AlvesSome great pictures, I won't deny, but particularly, my expectations were way beyond that what I could get from this book. Most of the pictures are in plain old BW, instead of being in living colors. The great majority don't even have a subtitle, therefore, we get a little lost sometimes. Besides, as this book was supposed to be something like a filming diary, it could depict much more behind-the-scenes stills, making of candids and so on, and even could show some text in it. I think if you only like to see pictures then the book will be ok, but if you're a die hard fan, searching for news about the filming of the picture, then this book will be the wrong choice. I think maybe to those photo admirers the book will be a disappointing, so, I wouldn't recommed it at all. I am quite disappointed myself!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. excellent book for a used item

By Marcus R. Chaney
This is an excellent book, especially since I bought it used. it was in good condition, and anyone who missed Pierce Brosnan as James Bond, this book is for you-- not to take anything away from current Bond actor Daniel Craig!--- I think Pierce could have done more Bond movies. This is a good "behind the scenes" book.

A photographic journey chronicling the creation of a Bond movie and the only official companion to the Bond release of 2002, "Die Another Day". Photographer Greg Williams has spend over a year working behind the scenes of the Bond movie, "Die Another Day", to provide a visual record of the cast and crew in action. With exclusive access to the multiple film crews shooting around the world, he has captured the creation of the Bond movie, from the filming of a dramatic car chase on a frozen lake in Iceland to images of Oscar-winner Halle Berry as she emerges from the sea in a scene reminiscent of Dr No. The images contained within "Bond on Set" are accompanied by quotes and dialogue with key cast and crew members including director Lee Tamahori, producer Barbara Broccoli and Pierce Brosnan himself. This is a photographic chronicle that captures all the style, the excitement and the complexities of making a Bond movie and provides an insight into the world of 007.

From the Publisher
Starring Pierce Brosnan as 007 and Oscarwinner Halle Berry as the American agent Jinx, Die Another Day is an expertly crafted tale of international intrigue, espionage, and heartstopping action. Greg Williams, one of the worlds premier onset photographers, spent more than a year working behind the scenes of this latest Bond film to provide a rare and visually stunning record of the cast and crew in action. With exclusive access to the multiple film crews shooting around the world, he has captured all that is unique about the making of a Bond movie, from the filming of a dramatic car chase on a frozen lake in Iceland to images of Halle Berry as she emerges from the sea in a scene reminiscent of Dr. No. The images are accompanied by quotes and dialogue with key cast and crew members, including director Lee Tamahori and Pierce Brosnan himself. A unique insight into the world of 007.
