The text of the book is amusing too, but that title --- what a gas!!! I recommend this book because it's amusing and something different. I think you'll like it. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Entertaining Collection of Sayings By mangofanatic Hilarious, and perfect to have on hand as we just moved to western North Carolina. I gave another copy as a gift to relatives who are retiring in NC, and they also got a kick out of it. It would have been great to have origin stories to go along with the sayings, to give background and cultural or geographic context. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A LOT!! of fun! By Kindle Customer This book is GREAT! A book to take everywhere. To the bathroom, a bar, relatives homes, etc! There is ALWAYS something funny and interesting to read. Makes one wonder about the people who created these terms!

They're called colloquialisms, idioms, of just good old fashioned, home-grown country sayings steeped in humor and home-spun common sense. These parlances might not fit the modern hoity toity rhetoric you're used to seeing in print or hearing on TV, and that's exactly why they're more refreshing than an ice cube in July. In Butter My Butt and Call Me a Biscuit, Author Allan Zullo offers up more than 200 vernacular verses presented in themes, such as: * Admitting You're Wrong--The easiest way to eat crow is while it's still warm, 'cause the colder it gets the harder it is to swallow. * Congress--Gettin' a politician to do somethin' good for our country is like tryin' to poke a cat out from under the porch with a rope. * Ego--Some people are so full of themselves, you'd like to buy 'em for what they're worth and sell 'em for what they think they're worth. * Teenage Boys--You kinda wish they used their heads for somethin' besides hat racks. * Revenge--Two wrongs don't make a right, but they sure do make it even. * Surprises--Sometimes you get so surprised by life there ain't nothin' else to say but, 'Butter my butt and call me a biscuit.'"

About the Author Gene Cheek, a born and bred Tar Heel, lives in Swannanoa, North Carolina.
