I just wish there was a newer version.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Cool Book!By Jack AlfordGreat information!37 of 43 people found the following review helpful. I did not have any luck at allBy A CustomerThe book sounds so promising...well, out of 26 letters mailed out, asking for a note or photo congratulating my son on his Eagle rank, so far, 11 have come back, all with notes like "address unknown" or "does not exist"...this is a waste of my time and money; the book and the postage to deal with the requests...I contacted the publisher about getting money back on the book and they laughed at me! It isn't their fault; "stars change their agents all the time; so it doesn't stay current and it isn't our fault"...They advertise that they stand behind their sources..I say, don't waste your money on this!

Do you need to contact a celebrity or public person? Our new "Contact Any Celebrity: 2003 Edition" contains over 13,000 accurate contact addresses for movie, television, music, and sports stars, as well as almost every other public figure imaginable. If you're a fan, business, or charitable organization, you'll love being able to contact your favorite celebrities to request autographs, photos, memorabilia, and more! Most celebrities are happy to send autographed items. After all, without you they wouldn't be famous, would they? Fundraising organizations can auction these items off live or online to raise money for their cause, authors can send their self-published books for free celebrity endorsements, and businesses can contact celebrities for speaking engagements and live appearances. The possibilities are endless!

"A very straightforward 'user friendly' reference. An excellent tool for autograph hunters and charity fundraisers...this is an invaluable resource." -- Midwest Book , May 2003
About the Author
Several years ago as a film school grad trying to break into the business, Jordan McAuley was frustrated by how difficult it was to make contacts in Hollywood. To solve this problem, he consulted with several Hollywood insiders and created Contact Any Celebrity. His goal was to make it easy for those wishing to reach celebrities and public figures, make business contacts, raise money for charity, or even land a job! Since 1998 he has published the number one annual directory of accurate celebrity contacts for fans, businesses, and charitable organizations. Over 10,000 copies have been sold to date and are currently used by fans, the entertainment industry, journalists, authors, fundraising organizations, public relations firms, and more! Located in the heart of Hollywood, Contact Any Celebrity updates its database of over 13,000 celebrity contacts every day via its online database.
