Mr. Pat O Day the Legend on paperBy JOHN CThis is the 1st edition the other is a correction/ addition both are AWESOME1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great book!By Bob SGreat book! Fun reading, particularly if you grew up in the 60's and 70's in the Seattle Washington area. Lots of "I didn't know that" information!0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Rollicking good timeBy A CustomerWritten like so many 30-second promos and album sleeve bios stitched together into one long, rollicking good read -- especially for those of us who grew up in the Northwest and benefitted from Pat's boundless energy in entertaining the pubescent masses. This is a wonderful collection of reminiscences by The Man who was there and made it happen. It could be improved only by the addition of an index. Thanks, Pat -- if you've got another one in you, we're ready!

The memoir of legendary radio man/concert promoter Pat O'Day, one of the key figures in the development of rock music and Top 40 radio in the Northwest. O'Day's memoir provides scores of fascinating stories about the radio and music business, featuring such figures as Jimi Hendrix, Jerry Lee Lewis, Paul McCartney and Frank Sinatra and such groups as the Rolling Stones, Led Zeppelin, Three Dog Night, the Beach Boys and Bachman-Turner Overdrive.

About the Author Pat O'Day first gained fame as the top DJ in the 60s the Northwest at radio station KJR-AM in Seattle. Considered by many the most influential figure in the development of rock n roll in the region, O'Day influenced the musical tastes an entire generation of listeners. Later, he founded the company that became Concerts West, at one time the largest concert promotion firm in the world.
