Geoff Lacey : Knave of Spades: More entertaining hands from the world of duplicate bridge before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Knave of Spades: More entertaining hands from the world of duplicate bridge:

Peek over the author's shoulder as he negotiates forty hands from duplicate pairs or team-of-four events. Savour the successes, reflect on the reversals, appreciate the analyses. Good writing and good fun for intermediate club and congress players, guaranteed to put a smile on your face.
