I generally prefer using software when solving acrostics, as the mechanics of transferring letters by hand is a bit tedious, but these smaller puzzles work great on paper. Each is small and self-contained, making for a quick and satisfying solving experience. A nice variety of quotation sources, too. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Short, But Not Necessarily Easy By Jerome Stevens You haven't two hours to work a crosswords puzzle? A mini-puzzle (on average 100 letters long) takes about 20 minutes. There is still a challenge however; a mini-puzzle is not a gimme. 2 of 3 people found the following review helpful. I love puzzles but this was my first acrostics By Colleen I love puzzles but this was my first acrostics. I'm hooked! This is a terrific book because it is spiral-bound and the perfect size to slip in my bag and take it with me. I hope there will be other editions of Mini Acrostics. Really pleased with this book.

Looking for some quick-to-solve puzzle fun? This smart collection of 120 mini acrostics does the trick in less time than full-size ones. Just solve the clues and transfer the letters to their proper place in the grid to reveal a wise or witty quote. The quoted notables include: Chris Rock, Joan Rivers, Nick Offerman, Shonda Rhimes, Tina Fey, Roz Chast, Questlove, Ellen DeGeneres, Nora Ephron, Maya Angelou, and more.

About the Author Francis Heaney is a former editor-at-large for Games magazine (as well as a playwright, songwriter, humorist, and lapsed tap dancer). His crosswords have appeared in The New York Times, the Onion, the New York Sun, Games, and Wired, among other publications. Puzzle books he has written for Puzzlewright include The Sudoku Code, Brain Games for Word Nerds, Sudoku in Space, and Boss Lady Word Search Puzzles. He is also the author of the humor collection Holy Tango of Literature (Emmis Books). Someone once failed to win $1,000,000 on Who Wants to Be a Millionaire because they didn't know the answer to one of his trivia questions.
