It's a great thing to have on hand for a few spare minutes or when a parent is late picking up a child or when a student is having one of "those days" and feels like they're playing poorly.. If I can make a game of it, then they can leave the lesson in a much better place. Where else in the world can you get that for under $10. (Also great for when a student has a broken or sprained wrist.) I have two sets of both set A and B, and sometimes let the kids play "concentration" ("matching") using two sets together.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. If you want to learn, or teach someone music notation, or just want to review what you learned in the past, this is a great way to do so. Flash cards are forever useful items. I have never been disappointed in any HL products.

120 color-coded cards to review musical terms, scales, key signatures, and chord progressions in C, Am, G, Em, F, Dm and rhythm patterns in 2/4, 3/4, 4/4, 3/8, and 6/8. Also includes interval cards - prime through octave.
